facebook-sin-programas-ni-links facebook-sin-programas-ni-links Phil Foden Philip Foden (born November 4, 1993) is a British footballer who plays for Watford. Career Foden began his career in the academy at Liverpool. He went on to play for Liverpool's Reserves and then for the Liverpool academy. Having been scouted by Leicester City Foden went on to play for the Academy of Leicester City, but, following their promotion to the first team in 2012, he was told he was surplus to requirements and moved to Doncaster Rovers. Having appeared in a friendly for Liverpool in January 2014, and then signed for Doncaster in April, he made his professional debut for the club in a League One match against Gillingham in August 2014. In November 2015, Foden joined Championship club Huddersfield Town on a month's loan. On 24 December 2015, Foden joined Conference National club Halifax Town on a one-month loan. He returned to Doncaster at the end of the month. In September 2017, Foden signed for Sheffield United on loan until January 2018. After making his debut for the club against Hull City in an FA Cup game on 25 September 2017, he went on to make five appearances for Sheffield United that season. On 18 July 2018, Foden joined Championship club Coventry City on a season-long loan. He made his debut for the club on 30 July 2018, starting in Coventry's 2–1 home win over Millwall. Foden was one of several players to be recalled from the loan spell at the end of the 2018–19 season. On 28 July 2019, Foden signed for Championship club Watford on a free transfer, as a replacement for Kelechi Iheanacho.
