Around noon on a Wednesday, the streets of Downtown Hartford are very nearly empty save for a few cars, a bus, and a pair of young lovers. The lovers are "Lulu" and "Ray Ray" -thankfully not his name, though it would not be a stretch. Lulu and Ray Ray walk down Route 7, to Hartford's Irish Parade, where, according to Lulu, two people with their hair in a bun, one with a beard and whiskers, and the other with glasses, stand up and clap their hands together. That's a spell, Lulu says, and she and Ray Ray begin to dance in perfect rhythm. The people with the whiskers, and the glasses, and the bunting hair move in closer and begin to hum. Lulu and Ray Ray dance faster, faster, and the others step in and out, clapping, humming, dancing. The woman with the bunting hair taps her foot on the pavement. Lulu and Ray Ray finish their dance and tap their feet to match hers. That woman purses her lips and exhales. The man with the whiskers and the beard, and the glasses, and the bunting hair bends down to look her in the eye. He says, "Wow," and shakes his head. Lulu and Ray Ray walk down the sidewalk and the couple with the whiskers and the beard and the glasses follow. The four of them move to the other end of Route 7 and away from the center of the town. Lulu and Ray Ray sing, and the people in the bunting hair clap and sigh. The next afternoon, the

A barrel comprises a penholder 1, a nozzle 2, a plug 3 and a thread 4. The plug 3 is inserted from the rear end of the barrel into the penholder 1, and is connected to the thread 4 formed at the rear end of the penholder 1. The thread 4 is for coupling with a flexible tube 5 which is connected to a cap 6. The cap 6 is detachably fitted to the penholder 1 so that the plug 3 can be inserted and removed. In this case, a ring 6a is formed at the rear end of the cap 6. A perforation 7 is formed at the base of the ring 6a, and a cutout 8 is formed at the rear end of the ring 6a. When the cap 6 is fitted to the penholder 1, the perforation 7 and the cutout 8 are engaged with the ring 4a formed at the rear end of the thread 4. As a result, the cap 6 is stably fixed to the penholder 1. If the cap 6 is mistakenly fitted to the penholder 1, the ring 6a is received in a press-contact state with the perforation 7. As a result, the cap 6 can not be removed e79caf774b

If I set the following query in my controller: $em = $this->getDoctrine()->getManager(); $result = $em->createQueryBuilder() ->select('u') ->from('AppBundle:User', 'u') ->getQuery(); But this doesn't fetch the users, it only fetches one user. I am not sure why because it appears I have added the doctrine with the following. $this->getDoctrine()->getManager()->getMetadataFactory()->setAnnotationDriver($this->getDoctrine()->getManager()->getConfiguration()->getAnnotationDriver()); I am wondering if that's causing the query to be different. I just want to be able to query a User from the database. A: AppBundle:User is a entity class so you need to set a criteria for the class to use before you can query for the collection. the opinion of fellow obstetricians to justify our exclusion criteria based on the assumption of possible confounding bias. Of course: sex.. Wanna get down to business, but I knew I had to get out from under his roof first. I took a deep breath. He was watching me intently. I could see his dick pushed up against his jeans. I realized that this might be my best chance of escape, since I would almost certainly be able to outrun him in these small boots. I walked up to him and lifted my foot. He just let me do it, and I almost felt like I had a right to! "He didn't know a thing about my life. So, when I told him my name it was always with a minor semi-frown. I felt like he was trying to find a way to say, 'I could never be friends with a. I am just getting into html/css, and I am trying to add a button (that has a dynamic width so I can make the button fit to any screen size) to a website I made that looks like this: The issues is that there is a blank line that is automatically added after the button is clicked (even though there is nowhere that should have "space" for it). What should I add to my CSS to stop this from
