This is a kinetic puzzle game where all the excitement comes from having to figure out how to get a ball bouncing around through each level. In each level you need to be the ball, or at least an obstacle that the ball can pass through. You can press any key to restart the level, this restarts both the ball and all you. There's unlimited levels of challenges. You can play with the pressure sensitivity (less presses mean less ball speed) and the size of the ball (smaller ball slower). At the end of each level there's the option to set a score and see your final rank. Features: Randomly generated levels Audio based puzzles 5 Levels and counting (though the count of levels is not fixed) Automatic restart functionality Press any key to restart Full keyboard support Mouse wheel required Press U to turn on/off Vibration Sound on, no sound required (these are all the music tracks from the game, there are no other audio files in the game) Touch controls available on android 3.0+ phones FAQ: Q: Will it work with the stock Android keyboard? No it won't. Q: Why do I have to restart the game every time I restart the level. When you restart the level all the balls are restarted. You could play the level for 2 minutes and you may have one ball reach a "stasis" point where its held still and doesn't move in the level. I think the balls should only rest at those points. Q: How do I play the levels? At the end of each level there's the option to set a score and see your final rank. 1: Press 'r' 2: Press 'r' again 3: Press 'r' again 4: Press 'r' again Q: Does the game crash if I don't have sound on? Nope, it doesn't. Q: Is the game hard? Yes. Q: Is the game very easy? It's hard, yes. Q: Is the game very hard? Yes. Q: Do I get some extra points for clearing the first level within a short time? Nope, I shouldn't. It

If you like this product, please give me a review or two. A few words about the product is always appreciated as well. If you really like this product, you should check out my other games. I've made about 30 of them and even made my first MMORPG.

People think I'm rude - But I'm just honest. I'm an honest guy. I make my games as good as I can. I play the game as the players do, I work on the game as they play, I test the game as they run it. People may be giving me an other thing to do, And sometimes I even get really sad when people don't like the game but have to say it in a polite way

It's a pocket size, two player, 2D rock 'em, sock 'em, platformer fight to the death, mixed with lots of adorable mini fights. You play as an anthropomorphic water kangaroo, known to you as Skator. You must reach the end of a maze under water (beneath the surface), to defeat the seal-like gator known to you as Gator. There is a secret character inside the Gator (Gator within the Gator?), who you can rescue. You can also choose to play as each character through the same maze, but can only save them when they are already dead. You can have a limited number of lives (all your opponents). Each life is counted down through an iconic "Jazz" song as you go, a guitar riff which changes on each stage to fit your mood. Each level starts at a certain energy. Each time you lose a life, your energy drains and you start at the beginning of the level again. In some levels, there is also a danger zone at the end (usually an enemy or obstacle) which drains your energy instantly. Rewards: Every "level" you beat gives you energy (limit depends on number of lives). At the end of each level is a "Level End," where you can obtain a card which represents a character. Each level can have "completion", where you beat the entire level (without dying). This gives you an "Audience Award". Each character can have "performers", where you complete the level in their class. This gives you an "Animation Award". Every card is Rare (Royalty). Controller Support: To play on a PC or Mac, you will need to use a USB and/or Bluetooth controller. You can also use the Xbox 360 controller. Instructions on how to do this can be found here. You can buy controllers on Amazon. To use the Bluetooth controller, follow the instructions in the game, as well as these instructions, which are a bit out of date. To use a USB controller, follow the instructions in the game, as well as these instructions. Currently, the only controller supported is the Xbox 360. Windows users: To use a controller, follow these instructions. Note: You will need to follow the same instructions to use a USB controller. Windows, 3DS, and Switch players: To use the Switch, follow these instructions. Windows, 3DS, and iOS c9d1549cdd

was the first Unreal Engine game built for VR. Based on Unreal's intuitive and highly scalable sandbox engine, Unreal Tournament was designed to give professionals and newcomers alike the tools they need to make of their ideas into full-fledged games. A year and a half later, the Unreal Engine becomes the foundation for a new, better, and more natural way to interact with our games. Now, the Unreal Engine is natural for VR, and the Vector Engine is a natural extension of the Unreal Engine. Vector is a new game engine designed from the ground up for VR gameplay. It is driving the growth of the new and emerging field of virtual reality gaming, and, like Unreal before it, has its own exciting story that never ends. Unreal Tournament was built from the ground up to be a perfect weapon for VR. Single player, turn-based competitive play, team vs team combat, cooperative multiplayer, and creation of just about any kind of game you can imagine. Competitive and Co-operative Multiplayer Unreal Tournament is a team-based game with several different play modes. For example, go head to head battles between humans with a set of weapons, robots fighting other robots, heroes vs monsters, and all kinds of other combat. Or, you can work together with other players online, or even up to eight players cooperatively. You can have teams of two together as attackers or defenders, or as a ranged, melee or silent force. The only thing stopping you from using Unreal Tournament as a locus of domestic warfare is the in-game chat. Unfortunately, war-time censorship is still a very real issue in the world today, and your inability to say "fire!" will certainly impede you from having fun in a multiplayer environment. The key point with the Unreal Engine has always been that it is flexible; what you can make is up to you. You are able to build a game from the ground up using a game engine to manage, and you are able to custom-build an engine to suit your needs. Vector is designed from the ground up to be just that flexible. It is also designed to be unique. If you could imagine yourself, then Vector will be able to deliver that experience in virtual reality, using the power of motion tracking technology. Natural User Interface Unlike traditional games, which have very strict limitations on how the user can interact with the environment, and how the UI (User Interface) is displayed,

A young boy named Bakö goes to a strange place from where nobody returns. It will not take him long to notice that this place is much stranger than the hell he thought. He will learn new things about each of us, including some secrets about himself. The nightmare is not over yet. Everything will stay in place until he finds a way to get out from the place and go home. RPG-like game Experience the classic RPG approach with a dark and psychological vision of the world. 8 Hours of game time The old guy has been making money (and having fun) as a car thief, but after he uses a new form of explosive that goes off like clockwork, an ex-con calls in a favor and turns him in for theft and murder. Now the man is afraid to leave the grounds of his secluded home. Inspired by the beautifully haunting music of legendary composer Keith Emerson. An "emotional symphony to haunt your dreams" As a retired widow and full-time mother to her young family, Woodie has lived a joy-filled life. But all that changes when her car won't start one morning, and she learns that the only mechanic in the area has passed. Abandoned and alone, Woodie can count on no one. The mysterious Kero learns of her plight, but has no intention of delivering on his promise to her. Kero has spent his life on the road as a traveling repairman, visiting the various towns along the way. In each of the small towns where he has seen so much misery, Kero has made a small difference in one person's life. Now, he decides to help a stranger in a desperate situation. In exchange for his kindness, Woodie agrees to teach him, in her own way, the art of repairing cars. But as he studies the automaton and listens to her stories, Kero finds his secrets tearing at the foundation of his own life. Will he be able to piece together his past and live a new life, or will his past be his undoing? Got you! You thought it was the writing. Actually it's the story that's got you! The dialogues, the characters, and particularly, the music, have such a lasting quality that it can't help but leave a lasting impression on you. You can't help but feel that Kero and Woodie are real!
