The National Black Caucus of State Legislators would like to extend its thanks to everyone who participated in the 2017 Fall Legislative Conference. Attending the conference was a great way to network with colleagues and stay up to date on issues affecting Black people and other communities of color at the state and local level. While the conference officially ended on Friday night, many of the attendees continued the conversation online. The State of Black Political Power: The Significance of Local Elections and Events in the Road to the 2018 Elections National Press Club Thursday, September 14th, 2018 This event is organized by the National Black Caucus of State Legislators (NBCSEL) - National Black Caucus, the National Conference of State Legislatures, the League of Women Voters, and State Central Committees for the Democratic, Republican, and Green Parties. The National Black Caucus of State Legislators (NBCSEL) is the oldest and largest bipartisan organization of African Americans in the nation and the premier legislative association for African Americans. A long-standing advocate for those who are non-White, Black, Hispanic, and women in the nation's capital and the states, NBCSEL focuses on issues that affect the daily lives of Black people and their families. As an organization of 100 Black state legislators, NBCSEL is a voice for those who represent the people from the nation's capital and the states. Our goals are to increase voter registration, increase public awareness and access to Black elected officials, and to expand the number of Black elected 79a2804d6b
